

REGULAR MEETINGS

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The Alumnæ Association of the City Hospital Training-School for Nurses celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of the organization of the school on the evening of September 11, 1905. Dr. J. H. Oliver, an ex-superintendent of the hospital, kindly consented to be chairman for the evening and presided in his own cheery way. After the invocation by the Rev. T. J. Villers, of the First Baptist Church, Dr. William N. Wishard, who was superintendent of the hospital when the Training-School was opened, made the address of the evening, giving a review of the work done by the nurses from the beginning, setting forth the conditions as they existed in the hospital before the day of nurses. The nursing corps consisted of one female and one male nurse, the male nurse having been a former patient. The internes took their prescription books with them and after seeing their patients and writing their prescriptions went to the drug room and filled them, and in many instances when the patient was at all able the medicine was put on a stand beside the bed and the patient left to take it as directed. He then compared that time with the present with the heartiest words of commendation for the nurses' services in bringing about the almost miraculous change. Both Dr. Oliver and Dr. Wishard spoke in words of highest praise of the work which was so faithfully done by Mrs. McNaughton as matron of the hospital for twenty-five years. Letters of greeting were received from graduates scattered over the United States, Canada, and England. Mrs. Hunt Bryce, second superintendent of the Training-School, and Miss Margaret Woodworth, a former assistant superintendent, graduates from Bellevue, New York, were made honorary members of the association. Miss Bassett, an impersonator of ability, gave several recitations during the programme. The graduates of the school who were present wore white uniforms and caps and the pupil nurses wore the blue uniform of the hospital and cap. The nurses went to Clinic Hall, which was beautifully decorated with palms and flowers, in a body, and left in the same way after the programme. Upon leaving Clinic Hall our guests were invited to the third floor of the Training-School wing, where ice-cream and cake with hot coffee were served to about two hundred at small tables. An orchestra played throughout the evening, and those so inclined danced among the palms on the second floor. A very pleasant social time was enjoyed until midnight, when the guests began to depart and the twenty-first anniversary celebration was but a happy memory long to be held by those present. The delegates and visitors of the Indiana State Nurses' Association, which was in session at this time, were the guests of honor on this occasion.
